LOUBET IS ATTACKED.

PRESIDENTIAL STAND INVADIED AT THE AUTUEL RACE COURSE.

Count Christiani Atlas a Blow at the Head of the French President—His Hat Saved Him.

Paris, June 5.—President Loubet accompanied by the premier, M. Dupuy, and the chief of the military household, Gen. M. C. Baildon, drove to the Autuel race track this afternoon, closely followed by Madame Loubet in a second landau. As they drove along the Avenue Des Champs Elysee the crowd bowed respectfully, but on arriving at Autuel they were met by a violent demonstration, evidently organized and directed against the president. There was a storm of hoots, yells and cries of "Panama," "A las Loubet" and "Vive Parnet." A few shouts of "Vive Loubet" were drowned in the clamor. A strong force of police kept order and arrested many of the disturbers, including a man who tried to force his way to the president's carriage.

During the second race the clamor increased in violence and was directed by a committee of the league of patriots, collected with their supporters both before and behind the presidential stand around which a formidable affray proceeded. During the grand steeple chase many blows were struck and several policemen were injured in their endeavors to prevent an invasion of the presidential stand. At the crisis of excitement, while shouts of "Vive L'Armee" and "Vive Droulede" were heard on all sides, Count Christiani rushed toward the president brandishing a stick and directed a blow against him, striking his hat. The crowd rushed upon Christiani, who only escaped severe handling, by being taken under police protection.

President Loubet remained all the while unmoved, talking to the premier, while the officers of his military household were defending him against violence. Finally after thirty arrests had been made, the prefect of police ordered the republican guards to surround the presidential stand. The principal leaders of the demonstration were M. Joseph Lascies, anti-Semite and Nationalist, a deputy for Cors, and M. Firmin Faure, anti-Semite and Nationalist, deputy for Oran, Algeria. The police inspector, Crilliere, had his head seriously wounded in the melee, and President Loubet has since decorated him with the Cross of the Legion of Honor in recognition of his devotion to duty.

G. T. R. STRIKE OVER.

Trackmen Have Returned to Work, the Company Promising to Accept Arbitration.

Montreal, June 5.—The G. T. R. trackmen's strike is over and the men return to work Monday, having surrendered unconditionally. The position of the strikers was weakened by the fact that the strikers showed no disposition to side with them. E. F. Clarke, George Taylor and J. Powell, all members of parliament, came here on behalf of the men on Saturday and interviewed General Manager Hays, after which they advised the local heads of the strike that the men should return to work at once, and that a wage increase was accepted, word being sent all along the line to Toronto to that effect. Chairman Folie, representing the strikers, says the company has agreed to accept arbitration in the matter, but in any case they had left the matter in the hands of Messrs. Powell and Taylor, and Hays promised to deal with them. General manager Hays says there are no conditions, save simply that the men have returned to work.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Requested by the Imperial Government to Amend the Anti-Japanese Act.

Ottawa, June 5.—The imperial government through the colonial secretary, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, has asked the Canadian government to disallow the anti-Japanese legislation, passed by the late Turner government of British Columbia, if the province do not agree to amend the law at the next meeting of the provincial legislature. If the province should consent to amend the act contained in the bill, then Mr. Chamberlain suggests that the Dominion should pass a law somewhat similar to the Natal act and in this way British Columbia would be protected from the inroads of the Japanese about as effectively as if the present bill remained on the provincial statute book. It is the objectionable character of the act, which is regarded as an insult upon the people that Japan complains of and not as to any other result it may have against them, Japan is a friendly ally of Britain and it is regarded by the imperial government that in the interests of Canada and Britain alike this friendship ought to be maintained in the same manner especially when the object sought for can be attained in no other way. It is understood that the Dominion government have communicated with the British Columbia government to see if they can suggest any remedy on that matter. If not then it goes without saying that the legislation will have to be disallowed.

The same act contains restriction on Chinese immigration. What the provincial government had done was to apply the Chinese act to the Japanese and if the act is disallowed it will place the Japanese on the same footing as the Chinese, which neither the imperial or the Dominion governments desire to do. Indeed it is under consideration here at the present time to increase the poll tax on Chinese and it will be generally regretted that the present law against them will have to be disallowed, but under the circumstances should the province refuse to act at the suggestion of the home government there will be no option.

The British Columbia government have notified the Dominion government that they will not amend the anti-Japanese legislation so that the provincial bill will be disallowed.

Woman Charged With Murder.

Brandon, June 5.—Miss Agnes Fleming, who lives between Elkhorn and Virden, and who is now in jail here, will be arraigned today and charged before Magistrate Campbell with the murder of her own child. The woman was sent up for trial from a coroner's inquest on the child, held at Virden, but this proceeding was irregular, the law giving the coroners power to commit for trial being obsolete. She will have to be arraigned and have a preliminary hearing before the magistrate. At the coroner's inquest the woman admitted that she had left the infant out on the prairie for two days and nights, from which exposure it had died. She is thought to be insane. The father of the child is also implicated.

Mrs. J. I. Parkin, an esteemed lady of this city, is lying at the point of death. She is suffering from diabetes.

Grillia, June 5.—There is trouble in municipal matters in Gravenhurst. On Friday the town clerk was arrested at the instance of the town council on a charge of being $200 short in the funds of the municipality. He was released on $4,000 bail until Monday when the matter will be further considered.

THE MARKETS.

The conditions surrounding the wheat market during the past week has been such as to give it added strength and cause a material advance in prices. The full advance was not maintained owing to heavy selling to realize profits but the undertone of the market is strong and the present outlook is for a higher range of prices. The winter wheat crop is not improving, but, on the contrary, continues to deteriorate owing to the destructive work of insects. Some very sensational reports have been sent out which are probably more or less exaggerated, but it would seem a conservative estimate to put the present promise at 250 to 275,000,000 bushels. The spring wheat outlook is quite in contrast with that of the winter wheat crop, the condition and prospect being well high perfect at this time and this fact, together with the rather limited export demand, determines to some extent. The crop reports from Southern Russia and Roumania continue very bad. Other European countries have fair to good prospects although Berbertha today estimates the total crop of Europe at 160,000,000 bushels less than the amount raised in 1898. When this is taken in connection with the certain shortage on this side and the moderate visible reserves, it makes a situation which should justify buying whenever the market shows weakness.

THE PEACE CONGRESS.

PLANS FOR DISARMAMENT PROPOSED BY SEVERAL NATIONS.

The Sub-Committee Adopts the U. S. Plan With Few Alterations—Italy's Proposals.

The Hague, June 2.—Both sessions of the disarmament committee met today and, as was anticipated, failed to agree with regard to the question of new inventions in armaments. The drafting committee of the arbitration committee made some advance this afternoon. The American delegates submitted their scheme relating to an arbitration tribunal. The plan differs from the British proposal. It provides that each country shall appoint a single arbitrator to be selected by the supreme courts of the signatory powers. The tribunal shall have a permanent central seat and be composed of at least three judges, who shall not be natives or residents of the countries belonging to the powers in dispute. The general expenses shall be shared proportionately. In the event of new facts arising within three months of a decision, the same tribunal shall have power to try again the questions in dispute. Recourse to the tribunal shall be optional to the signatory powers. The tribunal shall not take cognizance of any dispute until assured that the parties concerned will accept its decision.

Apart from the above project, the Americans have proposed a special scheme of mediation, providing that in the event of a difference arising between two powers, each shall choose another power to act as its second. The power thus selected shall do all they can to reconcile the opponents. These second powers shall, even when war has broken out, continue their efforts with a view of ending hostilities as soon as possible.

The amendment of Count Nigra, head of the Italian delegation to the peace congress, to the Russian arbitration scheme, proposes the following article: 1. In the event of the imminence of a conflict between two or more powers, after the failure of all attempts at conciliation by the means of indirect negotiations, the contending parties be obliged to have recourse to mediation or arbitration. In cases indicated by the present act, 2. All other cases of mediation or arbitration will be recommended by signatory powers, but will remain optional. 3. Each of the signatory powers not involved in the conflict has in all cases, even during hostilities, the right to offer the contending parties its good offices for mediation or proposal. They have the right to the mediation of another power equally neutral, or to arbitration. This cannot be considered by either of the contending parties as an unfriendly act, nothing being obligatory. 4. A demand for, or offer of, mediation takes precedence of a proposal for arbitration, but arbitration may or must be proposed, according to circumstances, not only when there is no demand or offer of mediation, but also when mediation would have been rejected or would not have led to conciliation. A proposal of mediation or arbitration until formally accepted by all the contending parties, cannot unless there be a convention to the contrary, delay pending mobilization or other preparatory measures or military operations. 6. Recourse to mediation or arbitration, in conformity with article 1, is obligatory in the case of "war." A blank space follows the word "war," to be filled in by Count Nigra later.

Methodist Conference Convicts Dr. Austin on Charge of Heresy.

Windsor, Ont., June 2.—Dr. Austin's heresy case occupied the whole of the Methodist conference, for London district, here today and this evening and was decided against Dr. Austin. He was condemned on all four charges and deposed from the ministry of the Methodist church. His defence will be published shortly. After preliminaries, Dr. Austin was heard. He frankly admitted himself to be a spiritualist, but contended that spiritualism was not un-Methodistic. Little sympathy was shown with Dr. Austin in the course of his remarks, interruptions and hisses being frequent. The charges were taken up in their order and the findings of committee of the St. Thomas district were sustained to the effect that Dr. Austin is not in harmony with the teachings of the Methodist church. It was then moved by Rev. Joseph Deacon, that the charge preferred by Rev. A. H. Going against Rev. Dr. Austin having been proved and sustained, Dr. Austin be now and is hereby deposed from the ministry of the Methodist church. This was adopted.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT.

Japan Preparing for War—Cossack Minister a Party of Japanese.

Victoria, B. C. June 2.—Details were brought by the steamer Kinshu Maru, which arrived yesterday, of war-like preparations in China to resist the Italian occupation of San Man, and probably the further occupation of Shanghai by Germany.

A Pekin correspondent writes that Japan is diligently and quietly making war preparations as she did four years ago and is taking measures to strengthen her coast defenses, feeling that a war with Russia in the near future is unavoidable. Russia is aware of Japan's intention to contest her in the east and fully recognizes the difficulty in which a war with Japan would place her, especially as the Japanese navy approaches that of her own in strength and additional ships are in course of construction in Europe. Her hopes are, however, that she will be able to keep her own waters, thus checking her from playing a game in Korea, Siberia and Northern Manchuria. She has also decided to oppose any landing of Japanese troops in Korea or China that might strengthen Japan's position in the east.

News was also received by the steamer of the sinking of a pilot boat on May 16th near Shanghai by the steamer Seiki Maru. The pilot, J. D. C. Arthur, was drowned.

Mr. Clark's Daughter Found.

Granville, N. Y., June 2.—Marion Clark, the 21 months old infant kidnapped from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clark, of New York city, on May 21st, has been found, two miles south of Sloughsburg, a village about eight miles from here. She was found at a farm house of Charles Youmans, an was in the custody of Mrs. Jennie Wilson, who took the baby to that place during the early part of last week. Mrs. Wilson was accompanied by her husband and stated to Mrs. Youmans that she wanted to keep the little girl for the summer. The Clark baby attracted the country people by her appearance, her large blue eyes and pink complexion being particularly beautiful. The curiosity which the child aroused made her captors grow uneasy, and they kept her closely confined at the Youmans' home. As soon as the neighbors of the abduction reached the neighborhood the people began to suspect that the child was Marion Clark. As soon as Deputy Sheriff Will H. Charleston learned of the abduction, he, taking the clue from pictures of the child and the description given him by people who saw her, went to the Youmans farm house and found Mrs. Wilson, from whom he demanded the child. Mrs. Wilson at once became indignant and claimed she knew nothing whatever of the child. He produced his warrant, arrested the woman and demanded information as to the whereabouts of the child. At this Mrs. Wilson weakened and made a confession. Marion Clark, the infant, is in good health and seems to be contented. She has no hat and her shoes show much rough handling. Her clothing is also much soiled. Arthur Clark, the father of the abducted child, arrived here at 6:30 this evening and immediately identified the child.

General news.

Canadian nickel continues to be a live subject for discussion. The Yankees want it, there is no mistake about that fact. It is the best to be had in the world, and the Yankees know that too. The United States has only a very limited supply and that supply is of an inferior quality. How to get the Canadian stuff into the Yankee manufacturers' shops in the eastward is the question. The Canadians feel that they have a good thing and want the price, and Yankees threaten to go elsewhere if the Canucks prove recalcitrant. Must Pay for a Newspaper.

At the last Division Court at Glenora the case of The Press Company vs. Edwards was tried. It was an action on account to recover three years' subscription to the Daily Free Press. Plaintiff proved that the defendant had taken the paper regularly from the post office, and was therefore entitled to pay for it. Defendant alleged that he never subscribed for the paper, and one Carson Adair, who lived in the premises now occupied by defendant, and in whose name it had been sent, had ordered the paper, that when he went away he had made a present of the paper to defendant, and had instructed the postmaster to deliver it to defendant, who imagined that Adair had paid for it, otherwise he would not have taken it. The judge held that defendant, having taken the paper, got the benefit of it, and should have stopped it if he did not want it. Judgment for plaintiff for $6 and costs. Blackburn for plaintiff. AN OLD MAN'S DARLING.

BY MRS. ALICE M. MILLER

CHAPTER XII.

"No, don't attempt to excuse your mother. If you had taken my advice, and turned your back on the world to look out for herself, this would never have happened! But no, you must saddle yourself with the charge of her, and ponder her as foolishly as her uncle did. And now you see the result of your blind folly. It needed but one sight of her baby face, that old dotard to ruin my prospects for life. I hope you are satisfied with your work?"

It was ten o'clock at night, and Felise Herbert had come into her mother's room in her dressing gown, with her dark hair hanging over her shoulders, and her eyes flushed angrily, to upbraid her mother for her weakness in the matter of Bonniel Vere.

"You should have turned her adrift upon the world," she repeated, stamping her shapely foot angrily. "She might have starved to death for all I care! After all I did for you, I think you could have done that much to please me!"

"But, Felise, you know it was quite impossible to take such extreme measures without incurring the censure of the world, and perhaps its suspicion," said Mrs. Arnold, defensively.

"Who cares for suspicion, they could not prove anything," said Felise, snapping her fingers.

"No, perhaps not," Mrs. Arnold answered, "but all the same, I should not like to run the risk. You are blinded by anger, Felise, or you would reason more clearly. You know I did not want to keep the girl here. I hate her as much as you do. I have hated her ever since she was born, but you know I dare not turn her off. Society would taboo us if we dared think such a thing. Turn a girl of her aristocratic antecedents out upon the world to earn her living, while I am pining in wealth! A girl who knows no more of the world than a babe! The daughter of General Vere, the niece of my dear husband! Felise, you must see that it would be no good."

"I would if I had been suffered to have my way," answered the girl, marching angrily up and down the floor. "To be thwarted this way in my prospect of making the most brilliant match of the season is too bad! It is shameful! For her to step into my place this way makes me hate her, worse than ever!"

"But, Felise, she cannot step into your place, no, not if you do not tell me you had learned from Leslie Dane's intercepted letters that the girl had been secretly married to him? Why did you meddle with their correspondence, any way? Why not leave let him come back in time to her wedding? She would then have been out of the way?"

"Mother, you talk like a fool!" exclaimed the daughter, angrily. "You know I dare not tell Leslie Dane that I am compelled to keep him out of the country for the sake of my own safety. I am compelled to separate the two because he must not hear of the charge of murder that we made against him. If she should hear it, as she is likely to do at any time, and should communicate it to him, what would be the consequence? The world would learn here, and disprove the charge at once. Bonniel was with him that night. They went to Brandon and were married while your husband was being maneuvered out of the house. He could manage an alibi at once. You talk of suspicion—where would suspicion fall then?"

"Surely not on us, Felise," said Mrs. Arnold, fearfully.

"And why not?" asked the girl. "If the law suspect me, why not suspect again what absurd theories might be propounded by the suspicious world? Who can tell whether Will Madge could keep the secret? I tell you I have only consulted our vital interests, in separating Leslie Dane and Bonniel Vere, though to do so I have had to destroy her every prospect of becoming the millionaire's wife. I am compelled to keep that hezardous artist out of the centre at any cost."

"But, my dear, there is no chance of Bonniel marrying Colonel Carlyle even though she should be separated forever from her art-husband, for she is a married woman already. One hint of this to Colonel Carlyle would make your affair all right with him again?"

"It would not," answered Felise resolutely. "He is madly in love with her. Had I not seen it in those few weeks since she has been well enough to come down stairs? Has not the old fool hung over her as dolefully as any beggar could do? Suppose I told him the truth? Do you think he would return to me? No, he would only hate me because I had shattered his brilliant career!"

"I am surprised that Bonniel tolerates his attention as she does," said Mrs. Arnold, staring up the fire that was beginning to burn low in the grate.

"She does not suspect what the old fox is after; I will do her that much justice," said Felise, bitterly. "He is a very cunning man. He has a thousand tales or her father's prowess with which to bewitch her and awaken her interest. She knows the end of her wretched father who squandered every penny of her mother's fortune and only redeemed himself by dying recklessly in some foolish charge on the battlefield?"

She resumed her walk up and down the floor which she had temporarily ceased during the last outbreak. She was furiously angry.

Her eyes flashed furiously, her lips were curled back from her glittering teeth, her step seemed to spring the floor. Her mother watched her uneasily.

"Felise, do you not fret yourself, my dear. I am persuaded that everything will come right soon. Suppose Colonel Carlyle is in love with Bonniel. If he proposes to her, she is compelled to refuse his offer. What more natural than that he should return to you then, and make you his wife. Hearts are often changed on the rebound, you know."

"Mother, hush! You talk like a simpleton as you are," said the fierce retort.

Mrs. Arnold was stung to anger by the unprovoked insolence of her daughter. She rose and looked at her in dignified displeasure.

"Felise," she said, threateningly, "you are my daughter, but you must not suppose that I will tamely bear the continued disrespect and contumely I have lately been forced to receive at your hands. In your rage at losing Colonel Carlyle you seem to forget that it is in my power to make you almost as wealthy as he could do. Remember, I am a very rich woman, and I can leave my wealth to whom I please."

"And who placed you in that position?" sneered Felise. "How much would you have been worth but for my constant care of your interests? A third of your husband's property, which was all you could legally obtain! That was what he said to his big wayward. The balance of his money was for her, to make her a queen and win the homage of the world for her. Perhaps you will have the money I have risked so much to gain for you?"

"Felise, this is but idle recrimination. You know I must leave Bonniel Vere a penny to save her soul from perdition, and you know I have been scheming all my life to get that money for you, and that I will certainly give it to you. But I do not understand your mood tonight. What is it that you wish me to do?"

"Nothing, nothing! Months ago I began to see the girl again, and you refused me. You know I had her, and you know I spared nothing that came in my way. She has come between me and my dearest ambition. Now let her look to herself. I tell you, mother, I will take the terrible revenge on Bonniel Vere for what I have lost. I have sworn it, and I will surely keep my vow!"

She stood still a moment with upraised hands, looking fiercely at her in their throes, then she turned and went sadly from the room.

Mrs. Arnold stared after her blankly. She was a cruel and wicked woman, but she would not have dared to go such lengths as her daughter. She was then she turned and went sadly from the room.

"My God," she murmured with a shiver, "what rash act is she about to commit?"

CONSISTENCY THE JEWEL.

But Don't Undertake to Talk It to a Woman.

"No," she said, "if I am a vegetarian not strictly because I believe eating meat is harmful to a person; there is another forcible reason why we should not partake of flesh: we have no right to kill animals for food or for any other purpose. I don't wear feathers on my hat, you see."

"I am inclined to agree with you, Miss Fenlow," he replied. "I think we eat too much meat or most of us do, and as for killing birds in order to obtain ornaments for hats that is reprehensible."

"Ah," she exclaimed, "I'm so glad you take that view of the case! It is gratifying to find a man who has thrown off the savage instinct and is willing to admit that the beasts of the field and the birds of the air have rights. Why, I would no more think of partaking of a piece of beef or lamb than I would think of burning myself on a bonfire."

"I see, however," he said, after a short pause, "that you still wear shoes and gloves that were made from the skins of animals which were killed for the purpose of—"

But the dark look upon her face caused him to cut short his remarks, and they never discuss the meat subject any more.

He Fooled Himself.

A station master who had been taking a short holiday at some distance from his own station went to catch the fast train home and on entering the station found a lady trying to turn the handle of one of the compartments. The station master rushed to her assistance, opened the door, bunched the passenger in, slammed the door to and then by force of habit was of his hand to the guard and stood idly on the platform till the train had steamed out of sight. He had to walk home and the other station master laugh at him.—London Standard.

STRIKERS DETERMINED.

Not a Single G. T. R. Trackman at Work.

Montreal, May 31.—The strike of the G. T. R. trackmen continues without much sign of settlement. Lowe, the men's organizer, returned this morning from a trip to within a few sections of Toronto, and says he received assurance from every foreman that not a single trackman is at work. He also says some men, who were taken from Victoria bridge at Montreal to Nanapan, ostensibly to fix the bridge, were told to go over the line and see if it was in proper condition, but refused.

He was shown Montreal detectives at Ingo, Brockville, Nanapan and Belleville and says this is entirely unnecessary as the trackmen are orderly and temperate. The railway company is making every effort to replace the strikers, and two large batches of men were sent out in special cars from Bowmanville depot this morning. The first lot numbered between thirty and forty and were dispatched west to be dropped off at various points, they might be needed. The second gang, of about twenty, who had been engaged in the Richelieu Valley, were sent out to Actonville, where the trouble took place yesterday. The officers went down to protect the gang of Italians at Actonville, and at one time it looked as if there would be bloodshed between them and the strikers. Jas. King, former head of the strikers, threatened, and the authorities had determined to arrest him and several supporters, but King made himself scarce.

Accident on the C. & E. Railway.

South Edmonton, May 31.—The Calgary & Edmonton express, north bound, was derailed ten miles from here about seven o'clock last night. Several persons were injured, including Conductor Clark and Mail Clerk Kinney. Both the baggage and mail cars were badly wrecked.

Winnipeg, May 31.—Supt. Osborne, of the C. P. R., when asked about the accident said: "As train No. 41 was running north one and a half miles south of Oroskwan it left the track and two of the cars rolled down the dump which at this point is eight feet high. The train was a mixed one, having two colonist cars attached. These were occupied by Galician settlers and it was these cars which rolled over. However none of the occupants were seriously injured and only seven were slightly hurt. Three trainmen were also slightly injured. All of the passengers arrived at Edmonton at 10.45 p. m., the accident occurring at 6.30 p. m."

The Cubans Accept.

Havana, May 31.—Events in connection with the payment of the Cuban troops entitled to apply here for a share in the American gratuity have effectually killed off the opposition to the receipt of the bounty by private. In American military circles it is considered that a fine start has been made and that the opposition is defeated. Three hundred privates arrived during the day to apply for payment. Many who brought arms were not on the rolls at all. Ninety-nine rifles were surrendered. Most of the applicants declined to take any chance in turning the weapons over to the mayor of Havana, evidently believing it would be better to give them direct to the Americans.

LOCAL NEWS

Bicycles in Town.

There are fully $1,500 worth of bicycles in this town. Cyclists are losing heart over the continued bad roads.

Council Meeting.

The council met on Monday, June 5th, and transacted a lot of business. The minutes will appear next week.

Cave In.

The boxing about the town well near the school caved in on Sunday and Inspector Anus put up a fence to protect the unwary. Repairs are in progress.

Party.

A pleasant evening was spent by a number of young people at the home of Mrs. Wismer last Friday night, as the guests of Miss McCandless and Miss Grieve.

No Service.

There will be no service in the Methodist church next Sunday evening, owing to Rev. Mr. Galley's attendance at the Conference being held in Winnipeg this week.

Change of Time.

The C.P.R. have definitely announced that a change of time will take place in their service on June 18th, when the "Imperial Limited" will be introduced. The time of running will be announced later.

A. Correction.

Mr. D. H. Starr wishes us to correct the statement in the Starr's Point items of last week that he was building a house on his farm down south. We do so with pleasure, though we have no doubt our correspondent sent the item in good faith.

Plenty of Rain.

If a wet May and a dripping June make the farmers sing in tune, the agriculturists should have the most melodious voices in the Northwest, for never since the early eighties has there been so much rainfall. Warm weather now should bring on the crops with a rush.

Balgonie Hotel.

This hotel is now in the hands of Messrs. Dundas & Matchett and having been thoroughly renovated is prepared to furnish first-class accommodation to all comers in barbed and board. The name of Dundas, so well-known to Qu'Appelleites and commercial travellers is sufficient guarantee that guests will receive satisfaction. See advt.

Town Streets.

A few small ditches have been dug on several streets, draining places where water was in the habit of standing. Mr. F. Anus intended starting road work in earnest this week; but enough dry hours could not be collected each day to make it worth while undertaking the bigger jobs. These will be commenced as soon as fine weather makes its appearance.

Base Ball Club.

A number of young men interested in base ball met at W. J. Richardson's tailor shop on Thursday night of last week and organized a club for the current year. The following officers were appointed: Pres., "Dick" Johnston; Vice-Pres., J. McNaughton; Hon. Pres., J. P. Beauchamp; Sec. Treas., S. A. Kitzewiler; Capt., A. Matheson; Vice-Capt., W. Quinton. Every Monday and Friday nights a match will be played, the captain and Vice-captain choosing sides of the regulation number.

Child Lost.

While little Jennie Crooks, of McLean Station, was returning from the school house on Friday last she lost her way in the rain and fog and wandered five miles north to a neighbor's house. It appears there was no school that day and she and a playmate returned towards home together. After having her friend she had to leave the road on account of a pool of water. In trying to reach the road again she became confused and turned north instead of south. Mr. Crooks gave the alarm Friday evening, and Sergeant Pyffe's services were requested on Saturday, when she was found.

Painting Lessons.

Mr. F. W. Lee, an artist of some renown in England, lately came to Canada, thinking to better himself and at the same time see some of the natural beauties of this country. He is at present making sketches of some of the most beautiful spots in the Qu'Appelle Valley. He is endeavoring to secure enough pupils to form a class in drawing or painting in oil or water colors. We have seen some of his work and thought many of them worthy of praise. His paintings have been exhibited in the Royal Academy, London, for years, as well as in other noted Academies in England. He also exhibited at the Royal Canadian Academy last year. The Queen has purchased in all five of his pictures, while he has sold many others to other members of the Royal Family and the nobility. Those wishing terms and particulars should apply to him by letter at Qu'Appelle Station.

PERSONALS

G. H. V. Bulyea, M.L.A., was in town on Monday.

Mr. J. B. Robinson is confined to the house through illness.

Mrs. J. H. Moore, leaves to-day for a two weeks' visit in Grenfell.

Mrs. Beal, of Grenfell, is visiting her parents, Rev. Archdeacon and Mrs. Sargent.

Miss Grieve left on Monday for Regina, where she will make her home with Mrs. G. H. V. Bulyea.

Messrs. R. Johnston and W. Vickers returned on Tuesday from a four or five days' trip to Weyburn.

Mr. Mitchell, successor to Mr. Kinsella, inspector of creameries, paid a visit to the creamery here last week.

Mr. Mathews of the Windsor, Regina, has taken the new hotel erected by Mr. Kern in Moose Jaw and will go into possession about Sept. 1st.

Mr. Parks, who was in charge of the creamery here this spring, has been removed to Maple Creek, and left for there last Saturday night. Mr. McGilvery has been sent to take charge here.

Edgeley Echoes.

[From another correspondent.]

The annual Public and Sabbath school picnic will take place in the vicinity of the school about the last of the present month. The usual games and sports for the children will be indulged in, and everything will be done to make this the picnic of the season. A meeting will shortly be called to discuss ways and means, and all who have any interest in the matter are requested to attend.

The public closing examination of the school will take place on June 30th to which all are invited. In a later issue will be given the date and location of the proposed picnic. Edgeley Foot-ball Club will please take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Mr. Jackson, barrister, Indian Head, visited Mr. J. H. Fraser last week.

Our new settler, Mr. Barber, is now hard at work breaking on the N.W. quarter of section 25, recently bought of the Edgeley estate. He has erected a dwelling house thereon, and will soon move his family to the new location. We welcome Mr. Barber among us, hoping he may meet with abundant success.

We are pleased to state that Douglas Fraser is slowly recovering from his severe attack of pneumonia.

Reeve Smith took a business and official trip through this section last week.

Our old friends, the mosquitoes, are here in full force, with a surprisingly large family. Many say they are worse than they have been for some years past.

Mr. Harrison and his mother recently spent some days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fessant of this place.

Misses Maggie and Gertrude Craig visited the Head this week.

Mr. McFarlane, from Regina, was a visitor with Mr. W. T. Holliday last Sunday.

We are sorry to state that Mrs. Arget, who was seriously ill some time ago, is not yet recovered, but we hope she will soon regain her usual health.

Most of the settlers seem to be in sympathy with the movement now on foot to start the mill in town running again. On account of the rainy weather last Saturday, we were rather poorly represented at the meeting which was called to discuss the question.

Reports say that Mr. Joseph Price is to give an entertainment with his "talking machine" in the Edgeley Hall next Thursday evening. Mr. Price should be well patronized, as he gave the services of his machine so willingly last winter. Come one, come all, Admission, 25c., children, 10c.

Big Tournament.

Arrangements are being made for the holding of a big tournament in the Winnipeg auditorium next July. The prizes offered will be large enough to induce eastern corps to take part, and the Royal Canadian Dragoons of Winnipeg, as well as the Manitoba Dragoons of Winnipeg, Virden, and Portage la Prairie will be among the competitors. There will be district prizes, as well as prizes open to all comers.
